

Inspiring outdoor living

KönigOutdoor

KönigOutdoor

KönigOutdoor is a sophisticated high-end solution for outdoor living. It combines luxurious sintered stone surfaces with a durable weatherproof structure to provide the functionality of an indoor kitchen, outdoors. Our goal is to match our unique design with market leading appliances and finishes, creating a wonderfully refined space to come together with friends and family.

KönigOutdoor is available in a range of conveniently designed modules, providing a variety of configurations to satisfy most requirements. Internal compartments have hygienic wipe clean surfaces and fittings such as handles, hinges and drawer runners are from one of the world's leading furniture component manufacturers who use only the finest materials for their proven product. Alongside our modular units, we also offer bespoke services including custom unit sizes. (See page 8 for more information).

Sophisticated Sintered Stone ▶

All doors, panels and work surfaces are covered with market leading ceramic slab by Neolith. Featuring characteristics such as high resistance to scratching, temperature, staining and UV Light. Your outdoor kitchen will look great for years to come.

◀ Weatherproof Structure

All carcasses are made using high quality weatherproof material, providing a 25 year warranty against damp ingress. Strong, weatherproof levelling legs support them even when loaded.

Design ▶

Our modular units can be configured to meet the requirements of most specifications. Combine that with market-leading specialised outdoor appliances to create a truly superior outdoor living space.

Modular Units

Our modular units have been conveniently designed to provide a variety of configurations and are free standing so simply require a flat and level surface for installation. Each order is expertly crafted in our factory to create your complete outdoor kitchen unit which is then easily reassembled onsite.

1 Worksurface

Every kitchen is supplied with a matching 12mm thick sintered stone worksurface. Your worksurface will be jointed (if necessary) in the most aesthetically pleasing way to suit your design.

2 End panels

Sintered stone end panel provide a smart solution when the end of your module is visible.

3 Back panels

If your outdoor kitchen is freestanding, a sintered stone back panel can be added. All burner units have a vented back panel to allow air flow.

Bespoke designs

Convenient modules will satisfy most design requirements, but KönigOutdoor offers alternative solutions for those seeking very individual outdoor spaces to entertain and relax. For that something special, we offer a design and build service to create a unique outdoor kitchen to your particular specifications.

After an initial consultation we will provide a comprehensive design proposal, including a detailed quotation and colour renders of your project, costs for this design service are offset against order.

We recommend this service for larger projects, particularly those requiring mains gas or water supply, or where units are to be custom fitted between an existing structure. Please talk to your dealer if you would like more information.
